

Education is the first step to bridging the opportunity divide.

Giving children the skills to succeed in school sets them up for lifelong success and lays a foundation that will span generations to come.

Providing parents with trusted knowledge and tools allows them to be engaged and help the next generation thrive.

Education is the change that lasts!

Poverty isn't permanent.

Too many children, their hardworking parents, and neighbors know too well what it's like to live without.

Without food, a home, a job, that offers advancement opportunities, transportation, without the knowledge that college is an option.

Without opportunity.

Aging doesn't have to be a complex and fearful unknown.

It is important that we support seniors and their desire to age safely in place in an accessible, affordable, and familiar environment.

Many have never asked for help before; many won't ask for help now.
